DESPERATE GLOVE FIGHT.

Pete Lawler and John Moore the Contestants.

SOME VERY HARD HITTING.

Thirteen Rounds in Thirty-three Minutes, Ending in a "Draw."

In an uptown room last night Pete Lawler and John Moore lought a glove fight for $200 under the Marquis Queensbury's ruies. The contest was remarkable for much hard hitting, a great degree of cunuing on the part of one the principals and a determination to nago each other as much as possible. It was neither succumbed before that time, and then call the event "a draw." Both succeeded in holding out the required half hour, and, although a satisfactory re.

been seen in New York for a lang time.

Moore is a butcher, and was born in New York. He is twenty-two years of age and last night weighed 156 ibs. A fight with gloves in Brooklyn, some time in the dim past, is the only pugilistic record of this young man. Lawler was born in Ireland, and has eight years and more in California. He is twenty-three years old, and put up his hands weighing about 140 lbs. Lawler, among other fights, is credited with whipping one quired; also whipped Jimmy Kelly on the Cliff House old, same place, in twenty-two rounds, and caused Jacob Askers to throw up the sponge after sixty-four rounds, in Virginia City. Both were arrested by the test, and, Lawier being bailed, he quickly left for New York, arriving nore several months ago. Mickey Coburn was Lawler's second, Pat Jordan attended to Moore and Billy Kelly acted as referee.

Coburn was Lawler's second, Pat Jordan attended to Moore and Billy Kelly acted as referee.

TRUE THATES.

ROCND 1.—Moore stands an inch and a half tailer than Lawler. He was also in better physical fix than the California ind. When the referee started the bail, both came to the centre of the floor, which had been covered with sawdust, and puting themselves in attitude commenced the task. After sparring three or four seconds Moore let By his left at the head of Lawler, and being neatly stopped, he tried the right, which inside of the mark. Lawler then began, and, shooting his left straight into the face of Moore, caused that individual's feeth to chaiter. The latter sent out his right, bitting Pote in the stomach, when there was a sharp raily, ending in a hugging embrace. After breaking away bloore landed his left very heavily on Lawler's neck, successivily repeated it on the ribs, when the latter sent a swinging right-hander, which made Moore tremble. Another raily ensued, the best of the fighting using credited to Moore, when they again chinched. Upon separating each reached the head and lace severely, the blows sounding all over the room. Then Moore casayed his right upon the stomach of Pote, and upon being stopped the latter caught Moore as winging righthanded blow upon the side of the head which nelled the Yorker, and he was about to equalize matters when the required three minutes were up.

Rocked 2.—Both came quickly to the scratch, their faces deeply flushed, and with bellows to mend. There was no time lost, and Moore renewed his forting tactics. He succeeded in reaching Lawler's felt eye, and with his right the side of the Californian's bead, without a return. Again he sought his opponent's ince, but Lewier countered him prettily under the eye, and then hanging him in the stomach, there was a clinch. Again at the work, Moore and tower was clinch. Again at the work, Moore stot out his left victouely, but was out of range, and Lawler rather more thus side of the Californian town the first parting for wind and histing Lawler twice in the face, the Californian commingly got out of the way of the beavy gues, and when Moore again reached him Peta slipped, one nue resching the floor. While in this attitude Moore was about to strike Peta in the face and his hand did lightly reach the mark, but discovering his mistake, heatily withdrew it. "Foul" was crued by Mickey Colura, but the referse said it was "only a little one" are weelf not allow the claim.

lightly reach the mark, but discovering his mistake, hastily withdrew it. "Foul" was cried by Mickey Coburn, but the referee said it was "only a little one" and would not allow the claim.

Round 5.—The men wont quickly to work, and Moore sent his left, then his right and again his left very heavily en the face and body of Lawler without a return. (Cheers from Moore's friends). Then Lawler got heme with his left on Moore's body, the latter returning with a sledge hammer blow on the very top of Lawler's head, which crusted him nearly to the floor; but he caught himself and tried tard to pay Moore back with compound interest. He did so, and with two left-handers and a right in quick succession singgered the Yorker. Moore rained quickly, and, like banner and tongs, they went to work. Smack' bang! each hit the other in the face and nose, and, then resting again for breath, at it again they went. Shot after shot followed each other so rapidly, the blows could not be counted; at last lawler flattened Moore's nose with a terrafic left, and Moore cracking Lawler on the jaw sent the latter in a beap on the floor. First blood for Lawler and first knock-aown for Moore.

Rown 6.—Lawler acted upon the defensive, and showed himself possessed of much counting. When he got his wind sufficiently, he went to work like an artist. Three times he hit Moore in the lace and got away, when the latter raile, and, sonding two or three heavy hits on the body and head of Lawler, there was a desperate raily, ending with Lawler reaching ine floor, but whether by a biew or not could not be definitely ascertained. This was a sharp round.

not be definitely ascertained. This was a sharp round.

Hound 7.—The fighters wanted wind badly. Moore commenced proceedings again, and finited with his left. Lawier, more fortunate, countered him heavily on the neck, which brought forth cheering from the Californian's corner. Moore sent out his right in a vicious, awinging blow, but failed. Then Lawier reached Moore's body, and to make matters fair the latter bit Lawier full on the nose and then the ribs, getting away without a return. Both men were now very lired, and Moore's nose from the previous taps it had received was showing blood. After a rest of a second they reached to each other, and in the quick, hard fighting Moore, and the best of it, one of his right handers landing Lawler over in the growd.

Round 8.—The left eyes of the fighters were assuming an unpleasant appearance. Lawler began the work, and shot his left nearly on Moore's nose, then his right on his body, when Moore got on Pete's head, when with a rally, sharp and decisive, Lawler was found on the floor.

Rocke 8.—Both responded quickly to the call of "Time." Moore reached the face of Lawler twice, and Lawler, in a cross counter, nearly littled Moore from his feet. The butcher boy recovered, and Lawler, evidently bent on the worst kind of mischief, went to Moore and banged him six times so rapidly that one might have supposed his arms were operated by steam power. Moore would not be knocked out, and when Lawler was through with his heavy business he took his ture, and, hitting Pete full in the face and then in the body, Lawler went down in a heap on the floor. This was the best round of the night.

down in a heap on the floor. This was the best round of the night.

Recrews 10, 11, 12 and 13.—Both men showed blood about the face when they approached the accratch, Much of their fire had gone, yet Moore was still persistent and dogged in the purpose framed in the mind. Lawler lought on the defensive and after a few high raps by each Moore suddenly let fly his right and Lawler foll over on the crowd. The eleventh, twelith and thirteenth rounds were short, owing to the cunning displayed by Lawler, and as the half hour was nearly up he worked with that view in mind. The best hitting of these inree rounds was in the twelith and in favor of Moore. When the thirteenth was over, with Lawler failing among some of the spectators, the referee amounced that thirty-three minutes had expired, and then declared the fight "a draw."

Braw."

Hoth men were marked considerably about the lace, yet they laughed as their gloves were being removed. It has been a long time since such a lively mill has been witnessed in New York.

THE PUGILISTS' ROW.

The six negroes and three white mon who were arrested in this city Sunday last on suspicion of being mplicated in the assault on Ryan, the Troy pugifist, in Brookiyn, Saturday night, were taken before Judge Walsh, of Breoklyn, yesterday. The complaint against them was made by Sergeant Masterson, of the Second police precinct. Keany, the bill poster, who was instrumental is bringing Ryan and Goss to Brooklyn, informed His Honor that Ryan, Goss, Turner and himself went direct to Prospect Park Fair Ground after leaving Flemming's salson, corner of Washington and Johnson streets. He first heard of the assault at one o'clock on Sunday morning and was positive that Marphy, his partner, had nothing to do with it. Neither Ryan por Goss were in court, and the examination was set down for the 28th just.

A WAYWARD SISTER.

AFFECTING SCENE IN A STATION HOUSE-

BEOTHER'S LOVE A carriage drove up to the door of the fwentyninth precinct station house at a late hour last night, and from it a lady and gentleman alighted. They entered the station house, closely followed by a young man, pale with excitement, who had kept up with the carriage on foot "Sergeant! I want a warrant!" said the first. "And I want my stater!" added the second, glaring at the first speaker. An excited conversation between the two followed before the Sergeant could obtain from them an explanation

After each side had had a hearing it appeared that the young man who had asked for his stater had met per coming out of the Buckingham Palace (a place sa'd by the police to be the resort of women sa'd by the police to be the resort of women of doubtin character) slong with her companion. He endeavored to persuade her to come home, but she refused, and with her companion drove to the station to have the brother arrested for his interference. The brother gave his pame as Jacob Fiero, of No. 446 West Thirty-first street, and said his sister Dora was failing into evil ways; she has been placed in a reformatory institution and was only recoastly allowed her freedom at her argent solicitation and after promises to lead a better life. Her companion gave the name of B. F. Dinsmore, but declined to state his address, and complained that the brother had followed and annoyed them. The distressed manner of the brother and the affecting way in which he told the story of his sister's shame enlisted the sergeant's sympathy, and he detained the girl while the brother went in search of their father. The father soon arrived, and the entire party were shown into Captain Williams' room. Here the parent confirmed the statement of his son, and sorrowtully upbraided his child. Finally, becoming angered, be advanced to her companion and would have struck him down had not Captain Williams come between thom. After hearing the father's story the captain determined to hold the daughter in castody until this morning, when the matter will be referred to the courts. A room was accordingly assigned to ner in which to pass the night, and the father and son passed out together in company with a lady woo had come with them and remained silent and with cyes cast down during the entire scene. of doubting character) along with her com-

WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

A SCHOOL GIRL'S MITE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-Please permit a young school girl to say a word in commendation of Alderman Morris' noble project of crecting a monument to the dead poet, Bryant. We all loved and admired William Cullen Bryant. We all loyed and admired without Culete Dyant. We had his beautiful creations constantly before us in our school books. The school girls of America will be glad to have the privaced extended them to do something to perpetuate the name of one so highly esteemed and much loved. Mr. Morris suggests "from two cents upward." Please accept my five cents. I wish I could make the amount very much more.

HARK ADVOCATE—A letter, giving the particulars of the less of the bark Advocate (of Windsor, NB), from New York for Dunkirk, was received ty Mr Charles Williams, of No 119 Washington street, this city, from Charles Goss, one of the seamen of the vessel. The Advocate, Capt Smith, sailed from this port May 13, with a cargo of lumber and grain; she was passed bottom on May 28 by schr John II Paige, which arrived at Phinadelphila, and subsequently ty plint boat Eara Nye, No 2, of this port, June 14, in lat 38 51, lon 73. Mr Goss states in his letter that they had fine weather on the first dar out, but on the night of the lith were struck by a hurricane, which constituted all the next day; the vessel lay to under lower maintopasti and stayant and everything made as sing as possible. At 10 PM 16th the whole three masts wont by the board, carrying the bowaprit with them, leaving the vessel as helpless wreck, rolling in the trough of the sea. The foremast in failing smashed the best long boat, and the yards fell on the deek ripping it up; and, to add to the disaster, the vessel aprung aleak. No one was injured by the failing spars. On the morning of the 17th stehted the ship N B Palmer (Nor), Larsen, from New York for Antwerp. Set signates of distress and she came down to m; but on accounts of the heavy sea running, we having only two small boats, it would have been dangerous to attempt to leave. Requested the Palmer to romain by us until the sea went down some, which she did, and all hands were safely taken off shortly attendant of the remaining of the Advocate she wes about 100 miss B of Sany llook and din as sinking condition.

Brite Kautna, from Sanu, at Philadelpha June 24, lost 65 hads moiasses from the deek in a gale on the 18th.

PORTLAND, Me, June 24-An unknown schris reported unk 154 miles ESE of the Cape Lights, in 9 fathoms of copper paint.

Powtland, Me. June 24—An unknown schr is reported annk 13, miles ESE of the Cape Laghts, in 8 fathoms of water, directly in the track of vessels. Two thirds of her masts are above water. San appears to be 84 John's build. Quenuc, June 21—Ship Sebastapot (Br), Proud, from this port, with timber for Portsmeuth, E, has returned with loss of anchors and chains sustained in a gale.

Sr Joux, NB, June 24—The British birk E, has returned with loss of anchors and chains sustained in a gale, coal laten, while lying to off Brier Island, at two o'clock Sunday morning, was run into by the British bark Antiwerp. She was strack on the how, cut la two and in three minutes went down. The disuster occurred so auddenly that there was very little time for anything to be done. The crew of the Antiwerp immediately wore ship, but the fog was so thick that no beat was put off to search for those belonging to the brig, as it would have been unpessible for a boat to have found its way back, Five men, however, were saved by catching ropes throw from the bark or by getting upon pieces of the wreck that were floating about. Three lost their lives by the collision. Their names are—teorge Grant, master, Weymouth, NS; Melhael A Dolty, Grauville, NS; William Wilsett, Annapois, NS. It is supposed that they were killed by falling spars or went down with the vessel. Both vessels were found to St Join, the Contederate belog from Philadeiphia, while the Antworn, danp Frg. was from Giawar. The captain of the bark states that the fog was very thick at the time; that this caused the collision; that a strong breeze was blowing from ESE, and that the fog horn could not be heard any distance. Several unless were made in the bow of the Antworn, danp Frg. was from Giawar. The captain of the bark states that the fog horn could not be heard any distance. Several unless were made in the how of the Antworn Capt Frg. was from Giawar. The captain of the bark states that the fog horn could not be heard any distance. Several unless were made in the
